Clinical Evidence

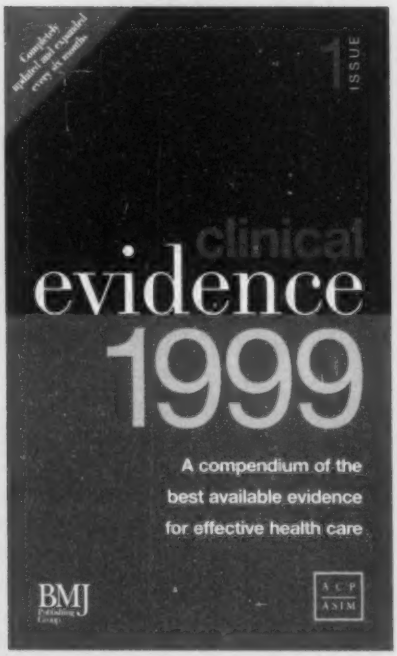
from BMJ Publishing Group

FIRST ISSUE AVAILABLE SPRING 1999



Early Bird Discount by ordering before end of 1998

Clinical Evidence is a compendium of evidence on the benefits and harms of common clinical interventions. Written by practising clinicians using rigorous searching and evaluation methods, it will be issued every six months to bring you the most reliable and up-to-date findings on important questions in clinical practice. Clinical Evidence will be published as a convenient pocket-sized book in order to make clinical effectiveness accessible and possible for the majority of health professionals in the UK.

Clinical Evidence will enable clinicians and health care professionals to make informed decisions about:

- Choosing one treatment or test over another
- Informing patients and their families, and involving them in decision making
- Identifying gaps in the evidence
- Conducting and commissioning research
- Auditing clinical procedures

Narrative Based Medicine

Dialogue and discourse in clinical practice

Edited by Trisha Greenhalgh and Brian Hurwitz

A book for the new thinking in clinical medicine

That clinical practice requires narrative skills - the ability to discern multiple meanings in what patients say to their doctors - is as central to medical practice in an evidence based era as it has been since the dawn of history. This important book re-invigorates our understanding and appreciation of the role of story-telling and narrative analysis in the practice of medicine.

- Includes a wealth of real examples of patients' narratives, and personal stories from doctors and nurses in different fields of health care
- Edited by two leading GPs, with chapters from over 20 internationally renowned contributors
- Includes chapters on: the role of narrative in psychotherapy; the narrative stream in medical ethics and medical negligence; the role of literature in the teaching of medicine and nursing

"A timely book, and one that is both stimulating and controversial. It will provide a fascinating read for many people." Sir Kenneth Calman
